CONFRONTED BY ALLIED ARMIES THEY GIVE IN

Allies Stubbornly Refuse to Grant Extension of Time and Further Concessions Requested By the

TO RAISE BLOCKADES

Allies Will Release Hemmed-in Nations, Including Russia, With the Signing of The Treaty

PARIS, JUNE 23—THE GERMAN NOTE ACCEPTING THE PEACE TREATY WAS FORMALLY PRESENTED TO THE ALLIES AT 5:25 O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON, LESS THAN TWO HOURS BEFORE THE EXPIRATION OF THE TIME LIMIT.

WEIMAR, JUNE 23—THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY TODAY, BY A VOTE OF 237 TO 135, VOTED TO SIGN THE PEACE TREATY PRESENTED BY THE ALLIES. FOLLOWING THE VOTE TO SIGN THE PEACE TREATY THE ASSEMBLY TOOK A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THE CABINET, WHICH RESULTED AS FOLLOWS: 236 FOR, 59 AGAINST, 65 BLANK.

Disclaim Sole Guilt
By Carl Groat
United Press Staff Correspondent
Weimar, June 23—The national assembly voted this afternoon, 237 to 135, to sign the peace terms.
Just before this ballot was taken the assembly voted confidence in Chancellor Bauer's ministry 236 to 59.
In addressing the assembly Chancellor Bauer declared Germany is ready to sign, but she must go on record against acknowledgment of the sole guilt of the war and against the delivery of her subjects to a foreign government for trial. He explained that the new cabinet had agreed that Germany would suffer less hardships if she sign and "under the circumstances it had been decided to sign."

Refuse Time Extension
By Ed L. Keen
United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris, June 23—Germany must accept the peace terms unreservedly by 7 o'clock this evening.

The allies today flatly refused a German request to extend the time limit 48 hours. They also rejected an eleven-hour plea for further concessions. These included elimination of the clause demanding the surrender of the former kaiser, retention of the German colonies and refutation of Germany's admission that she was solely responsible for the war.

Gustave Bauer, the new German chancellor, notified the allies that his government was ready to sign the treaty with the above reservation. The allied reply declared that all discussion had ended.

Reports received here state that Secretary von Hamel of the German peace delegation has been raised to the rank of president of the delegation, with full power to sign the treaty. He is now in Versailles.

The allied armies under Marshal Foch were still under orders to advance into Germany Tuesday morning. It was learned that the order would not be revoked before 7 p. m. today.

"Peace of Violence"
Paris, June 23—A note has been received announcing the Germans' intention to sign the treaty, it was officially announced this afternoon. The note announcing the Germans will sign characterizes the peace as one of "violence." It did not state whether the treaty would be signed by Secretary Hamel or by a new delegation.

Will Lift Blockades
Paris, June 23—The economic council decided today that with the signing of peace all blockades will be raised, including that of Russia.

New Cabinet Named
Berlin, June 23—Germany's new cabinet was announced today as follows:
Gustave Bauer, chancellor; Herman Mueller, minister of foreign affairs; Dr. Edgar David, minister of the interior; Matthias Erzberger, minister of finance and vice chancellor; Herr Wisel, minister of economics; Herr Schlicke, minister of labor; Herr Meyer, minister of the treasury; Johann Giesberts, minister of posts and telegraph; Dr. Bell, minister of communication and minister of colonies; Gustave Noke, minister of defense; Herr Schmidt, food controller.

FORGERS ARE ACTIVE

Warning Against Cashing Strangers' Checks Issued by Bankers' Association

The following warning has been issued by the Wisconsin Bankers' association:
An attractive woman about 35 years old, tall, brunette, has obtained about $100 from storekeepers in Delavan, where she rented a cottage. She made a deposit in a bank, withdrew most of it and cashed small checks at various stores, after banking hours. She was accompanied by two small children.

Many fraudulent checks are being cashed by merchants and in some cases by banks. One swindler is described as 26 years, light complexioned, smooth face, dressed as a farmer, claiming to own a farm in the vicinity of town. Has used name J. D. Mort and various names as drawer of checks. Another party claiming to be E. C. Barnard is cashing bogus checks supposed to be drawn by the Clausen Milling company on the Wisconsin National bank, Shawano. Checks countersigned by A. C. Clausen.

The discharge during June from the state penitentiary at Waupun of 33 criminals, including eight forgers and nine burglars, should warrant extreme care on the part of all Wisconsin banks. No checks should be cashed for a stranger without absolute identification. Look out for strangers; they may be "advance guards" of criminals. Keep safe chest locked during banking hours if possible.

FOUNDER OF JOURNAL DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS

E. B. Northrup, Pioneer Stevens Point Journalist, Passes Away at Advanced Age on Saturday

E. B. Northrup, founder of the Stevens Point Journal, is dead at Minneapolis.

Announcement of his death came in a telegram received Saturday by Eunice Burr of this city, a cousin of Mr. Northrup, from E. B. Northrup, Jr. The message merely stated that Mr. Northrup died Saturday morning and that the funeral would be held Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. He had been in failing health for several years, but word of his death was entirely unexpected.

Mr. Northrup was 75 or 76 years of age. He came to Stevens Point in 1869 and established the Stevens Point Journal, a weekly. He continued its publication for four years, until it was disposed of to L. McGlathlin.

After leaving here Mr. Northrup established a paper in Estherville, Ia., but remained there only a short time. Subsequently he was connected with a Milwaukee paper, but he finally gave up newspaper work and engaged in mining in Montana. The family home for 30 years or more has been in the Twin Cities. The family lived in St. Paul for a time and also at Marion Park, between St. Paul and Minneapolis, before taking up their residence in Minneapolis, where they have lived for many years.

The surviving members of the family are the widow and three children, Mrs. Archie Coleman, Mrs. Thomas McCracken and E. B. Northrup, Jr., all of Minneapolis.

HALE STURGES DIES

Former Stevens Point Resident Expires Suddenly in Mansfield, Ohio

"Hale Sturges passed away suddenly Friday evening of acute diabetes," Mrs. Mary William Sturges.

The above message, sent to Miss Katharine Road from Mansfield, Ohio, will be read with deep regret by the boyhood day friends of Hale Sturges, scores of whom remember him as a youngster in Stevens Point and had since been keenly interested in his career. Hale's father, the late H. H. Sturges, was an early day lumberman in Stevens Point, the family home being at the northeast corner of Main and Division streets, where Prof. H. R. Steiner now lives. Mrs. H. H. Sturges spent several weeks here last summer, when she was a guest of Miss Road.

LIEUT. L. W. PARK HOME

Lieut. Lawrence W. Park, son of Judge and Mrs. B. B. Park, arrived home Sunday morning after an absence of more than a year as an officer in the dental corps of the army. Lieutenant Park left Stevens Point May 30, 1918, for Camp Sherman, Ohio, and reached France in September. He was attached to the 310th Field Signal battalion, and after the armistice was in the army of occupation, at Cochem, Mayence and Coblenz. He came here from Camp Custer and at the end of a two-weeks furlough will go to Camp Grant, where he expects to receive his discharge.

STEVENS POINT GIRL WEDS ARMY CAPTAIN

Miss McCreedy Bride of Captain Arthur N. Drips in Pretty Event Here Saturday Evening

One of the prettiest and most interesting weddings of the year in Stevens Point was that which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. McCreedy, 118 McCulloch street, at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, when their daughter, Miss Janette Irene McCreedy, was given in marriage to Captain Arthur N. Drips of Tacoma, Wash.

The two living rooms and dining room of the home were attractively decorated with smilax, palms and pink and white peonies. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. J. McLandress, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in the archway between the two living rooms, which was trimmed with palms and smilax.

Miss Bessie Burdick of Milwaukee, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and Charles E. McCreedy, a brother of the bride and who recently returned from service overseas, was bestman. The bridal costume was of white embroidered net, and the bride carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Burdick wore gray chiffon and corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

The wedding had a decidedly military atmosphere, with Captain Drips, his brother, William Drips, and four brothers of the bride all in uniform. William Drips, who was an ensign in the navy, wore a white dress uniform, while the bride's brothers, Allan, Charles, Seldon and Clinton, wore uniforms of the army.

Following the ceremony a two-course lunch was served, the Misses Harriet and Edna McCreedy, cousins of the bride, assisting in serving. A company of thirty was served, including only immediate relatives and a few of the bride's intimate friends. Among the guests were the following from away: Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Johnston and sons, Faville and Henry; of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Johnston being uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Allan McCreedy, St. Louis, Mo.; William Drips, who is attending the University of Wisconsin at Madison; Miss Mary Little of Menasha, also a University student; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Shaff of Clinton, Ia.; Mrs. Waldemar Bergstrom, Neenah; Mrs. Sadie Burdick, Milwaukee, and Miss Rosetta Johnson, Clarion, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Shaff came by automobile and were accompanied from Madison by William Drips and Miss Little.

The wedding was also in the nature of a family reunion for the McCreedy's, all of the six children of the family being at home except Jay McCreedy of Lewiston, Idaho, who was unable to come. Two of the sons had been overseas for many months, these being Charles E. and Seldon. Captain and Mrs. Drips left early Sunday morning for the west. Captain Drips expects to receive his discharge from the service this week and he and his bride will then spend two weeks in the mountains near Tacoma. They will make their home in that city after the middle of July.

The bride of Saturday is a member of one of Stevens Point's best known families. She was graduated from the Stevens Point High school in 1910 and from the Stevens Point Normal in 1912. After completing her normal course she taught at Merrill and subsequently was similarly engaged for three years at Tacoma, Wash. She taught last year in Fond du Lac.

Captain Drips has been in the military service for two years, practically all of which time he spent in France with the 20th Engineers, a forestry regiment. He entered the service as a second lieutenant and was promoted to captain while overseas. Captain Drips returned to this country the first of June and had since been at Camp Merritt, N. J., and Camp Dodge, Ia. He had also been visiting at his boyhood home, Rock Island, Ill., and at Clinton, Ia.

SENIORS FINISH WORK

But Other Classes in the High School and Ward Buildings are Still Being Held

The seniors at the Stevens Point High school, who will be graduated on Thursday evening of this week, have completed their school work. All other students in the high school and ward buildings of the city are continuing their class room work this week.

The class play, "It Pays to Advertise," which will be given this evening in the Normal auditorium, is the first of this week's graduation events. The commencement exercises will take place in the Normal auditorium on Thursday evening and the alumni banquet will be held in the Parish House on Friday evening.

Mrs. Glen Lounsbury and children of Sherry spent the week-end in the city, a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorenson, 217 North Fremont street.

WARSHIPS AT KIEL SUNK BY GERMANS

Vessels Not Surrendered to Allies Destroyed by Own Crews

Base BULLETIN

London, June 23—Admiral von Reuter, commander of the interned German fleet sunk by its own crew Saturday in Scapa Flow, may be tried by an international court, together with u-boat commanders and other war criminals, it was learned today. The British admiralty is forwarding a full report of the sinking to the naval armistice mission in Paris, by which the next step will be directed.

(By United Press)
Paris, June 23—A Geneva dispatch today reported that the German warships not surrendered to the allies had been sunk at Kiel.

Great Fleet Destroyed
Thurso, Scotland, June 23—Of all the German war vessels interned in Scapa Flow, only the dreadnaught Baden and the cruiser Emden remain afloat today.

The Frankfurt and Nuremberg may possibly be salvaged. Two destroyers are still on the surface and 20 others are beached.

The other vessels of the once proud German high seas fleet were beneath the waves, sunk by their own German crews to keep them from becoming the property of the allies.

Fourteen hundred of the German sailors have been landed. A few were killed and six wounded in clashes with British guards. Some may have drowned.

The main force of the British fleet was absent from Scapa Flow, its northern base, when the Germans carried out their coup. There were a few small craft on hand and some airships guarding the surrendered German warships.

MINNESOTA TORNADO CAUSES MANY DEATHS

Death List Reported to be Nearly Fifty at Fergus Falls Following Catastrophe

Sunday (By United Press)

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 23—Forty-eight known dead and more than 150 injured was the toll of a tornado which struck Fergus Falls at dusk Sunday, according to official check. It is estimated that the death list will not run over 75.

The blow struck a Great Northern passenger train four miles west and all but dropped it into Pelican river. Two hundred passengers escaped without serious injury. Then it swept down Union street, along the west side of the business district, and crumbled the Grand Hotel like a paper box. Most of the dead were dug from the bricks, stone and plaster of the hotel.

Four churches, the jail and court house and a number of factories were wrecked in addition to a number of dwellings. The property damage was between one and two million dollars. Adjutant General W. H. Whinow reached Fergus Falls today on a relief train.

WOULD PLACE PACKERS UNDER FEDERAL CONTROL

(By United Press)

Washington, June 23—Bills to put the meat business under federal control were introduced today in the house and senate.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming introduced bills in the senate and Representative Anderson of Minnesota presented the Kenyon bill in the house.

Both the Kendrick and Kenyon bills provide for federal licensing of meat packers which may be revoked if the packers violate any provision of the laws or are found guilty of unfair practices.

The Kenyon measure takes in not only the meat industry, but the unrelated businesses into which the packers in recent years have entered, such as the grocery business.

The Kendrick bill follows the same general lines except that it does not provide for control of unrelated industries.

WILSON HOME COMING SET FOR WEDNESDAY

(By United Press)

Paris, June 23—President Wilson's plans, conditional on the treaty being signed on schedule time, provided for his departure from Paris on Wednesday night and sailing from Brest on Thursday morning, arriving in America, at Hoboken, a week later, it was learned this afternoon.

RESUME TENNIS PLAY

Stevens Point People Are Eligible as Contestants in Wisconsin Tennis League

The Wisconsin Tennis League has announced that the Smith Trophy championship tennis play will be resumed this year, the contests not having been held in 1917 or 1918 on account of the war. The secretary of the Wisconsin Tennis League, Peter Holst, of Waupaca, Wisconsin, announces that entries and challenges for the championship competition will be received to July 15th. Any regularly organized tennis club in Waupaca, Portage, Outagamie, Brown, Manitowish, Winnebago, Marathon, Calumet, Wood, Shawano, Lincoln, Marquette, Langlade, Oconto, Kewaunee, Door, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Waushara, Juneau and Adams counties is eligible to membership in the league.

The late C. E. Smith of Neenah presented the league with a beautiful trophy, the winner each year being entitled to have the name of the city winning it engraved upon the trophy and having the honor of holding the trophy for the current year.

The contests consist of three matches in singles and two matches in doubles. As soon as the entries are closed, a drawing is made, giving proper consideration to the location of the clubs, and the clubs drawn are given a limited time to agree between themselves as to the date and place of playing the contests. Except in the final contest when all but two entrants have been eliminated, the contests consist of the best two of three sets; but in the final contest each match is best three of five sets.

Tennis players in the counties named are urged to get into communication with Mr. Holst without delay. Mr. Holst will send anyone who is interested a copy of the tournament rules. As the time within which entries may be made is short, immediate action should be taken by cities desiring to be represented. The conditions are neither technical nor exacting and as only amateur players, bona fide residents of the city they represent, are eligible, every city has a fair opportunity in the competition.

Stevens Point ought to be represented in this contest. There is nothing that stimulates interest in a game or does so much for individual proficiency in the game as these inter-city contests. We have had tennis players, just as other towns have, and there is no reason why we shouldn't be represented in the inter-city tournament.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL GRADUATES SEVEN

Four Boys and Three Girls Complete Preliminary Education at St. Joseph's School—Exercises Sunday

Seven boys and girls were graduated from St. Joseph's parochial school on Sunday afternoon. Commencement exercises were held in the basement of the church, and included songs, recitations and declamations.

The seven young people who completed their work at the school are as follows:
Nicholas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen.
William, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hebal.
Joseph, son of Mrs. Antonia Lietz of Eau Claire.
Clara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trierweiler.
Irvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maurer.
Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frank.
Loretta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sager.

The removal of four families from Stevens Point the past school year reduced the number of graduating pupils from 11 to seven.

The boys and girls who were enrolled in the school have been putting in 45 additional minutes of work each day during the past six weeks, and as a result all of the time lost by closing in the winter months on account of influenza, has been made up. St. Joseph's school closed last Friday afternoon.

NORMAL SUMMER SESSION BEGINS CLASSES TUESDAY

The six-weeks' summer session of the Stevens Point Normal will begin on regular schedule at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning instead of on Wednesday, as stated in the Journal Saturday.

The enrollment of students was in progress at the school today, and up to noon 200 had been listed. It is expected that fully 350 students will enroll for the session.

DARNABY AT WAUSAU

The big event planned for Wausau, starting July 1 and ending July 5, is under the personal direction of J. A. Darnaby and his staff of 10 assistants. Mr. Darnaby directed the production of The White Elephant in Stevens Point and has many friends in this city.

DISASTROUS END OF GAY PARTY

Ten Lives Jeopardized When Speeding Automobile Crashes Into Another Car and Buggy

ONE IS SEVERELY INJURED

Ben Lukaszewicz Suffers Badly Lacerated Arm—Two Arraigned In Court

What started out to be a gay party came to a disastrous end at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night when four young men, in an automobile driven in defiance of all speed laws, collided with another automobile and a buggy on Normal avenue, just west of its intersection with North Division street.

Nine lives were jeopardized by the crash, but fortunately only one person was severely injured. Ben Lukaszewicz, aged 22, 501 North First street, suffered a bad laceration of his left arm, the flesh from which was torn off clear to the bone. One of the bones of the forearm was also fractured. He was taken to St. Michael's hospital, where he was operated upon.

Two Brought Into Court

As a result of the smash-up, two men, Steve Schultz of Rhineland, owner of the runaway car, and Edward Manchewski, a local young man, who was driving at the time of the accident, were brought into court Monday morning. Manchewski was arraigned under the state law relating to the driving of automobiles by intoxicated persons. He pleaded guilty and was assessed a fine of $90, together with the costs, which he expected to pay. Manchewski paid $11.50 in municipal court on pleading guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly.

Police Were Nearby

John S. Hofsoos, chief of police, Patrolmen Thomas Mosey and Ben Somers and Special Officer E. E. Carpenter were in the immediate vicinity of the accident when it occurred. Responding to complaints made regarding reckless driving on Normal avenue, which offers strong temptation to automobile drivers to speed, Chief Hofsoos had laid a trap for speeders. Mosey and Somers were stationed at the intersection of Normal avenue and Division street, one on either side. Chief Hofsoos about 400 feet west and Carpenter 500 feet further west, ready to use stop watches.

Engine Wide Open

For an hour and a half no speeders appeared and the watchers were growing tired of the vigil when out of the west came the sound of a "wide-open" motor. It shot past Mr. Carpenter at a speed estimated to have been 40 miles an hour and was directly in front of the D. R. Whitney grocery store when the crash came. The driver of the speeding car attempted to run the machine between the car of D. A. Merryfield, which was being driven west on the right hand side of the street, near the curb, and a horse and buggy going east, also on the right hand side near the curb. There was plenty of room for a careful driver to pass between the other car and buggy, but the machine was out of control of Manchewski. It crashed into the Merryfield car, then darted to the right against the buggy. After striking the buggy it turned a complete revolution in the air and landed on its right side in the street.

Others Were Injured
Mr. and Mrs. Merryfield, who were in the Merryfield car, were but slightly hurt, as were also Manchewski's companions in the runaway car, one of whom suffered a cut in the palm of his hand. In the buggy were John Marcoe and wife and Mr. Marcoe's sister-in-law, residents of Knowlton. Mrs. Marcoe was bruised about the body and arms, but not seriously. The horse, which was unhurt, made no attempt to run away. The two cars were so badly damaged that it was necessary to haul them to a garage, while the buggy was almost a complete wreck. Doctors were called and Lukaszewicz was taken to the hospital at once. A large crowd gathered at the scene.

Damage Claims Threatened
It is probable that claims for damages will be filed against the owner and driver of the speeding car by Mr. Merryfield and Mr. Marcoe. Schultz, owner of the ill-fated machine, has been visiting here with his parents.

THE CITY PARK
WHERE IS IT?

Writer Protests Against Action of Common Council in Not Purchasing Sutherland Property

SAYS COUNCIL BROKE FAITH

Says Money Procured From Sale of Bonds Should be Spent On the Park

Editor Journal: Where is the city's park which was supposed to have been purchased for the purpose of beautifying the new Soo depot and grounds?

More than a year and a half ago the city was bonded for thirty thousand dollars for the purpose of purchasing certain properties and grounds for park purposes. Before this was done a committee composed of some members of the common council proceeded to set options on the property proposed for the park. These options were procured at certain given prices. All of the property was purchased under these options with some little reductions on some pieces, with the exception of the Sutherland property. The committee at the time they reported to the council on these options stated that in their opinion the options were reasonable, and on this recommendation conditioned that the property would be purchased in toto, the taxpayers of the city of Stevens Point allowed the bond issue to be put over without any contest, believing that the council would purchase the property so that the premises surrounding the depot would be beautified. It would seem that the common council has broken faith with the taxpayers and people of the city of Stevens Point by determining later not to purchase the Sutherland property. They allowed their option to expire, later started condemnation proceedings, which were dropped for some reason unknown to the taxpayers. They have proceeded to improve the lands purchased for the park all around Mr. Sutherland's property, so that Mr. Sutherland's property stands out more conspicuous than ever and is anything but sightly to people driving to and from the depot.

Says Sutherland Fair

It has been said on the authority of good attorneys that Mr. Sutherland could claim the street between his property and the Soo platform or so much thereof as was originally a street. Whether this be true or not, if Mr. Sutherland undertook to do this it would cause expensive litigation to both parties. It has sort of been given out that Mr. Sutherland was not fair in this matter. The writer believes that Mr. Sutherland was more than fair. He was willing that the city proceed with their condemnation proceedings; he was willing, to submit the question of price to an arbitration board of three; he was willing to leave the price of his property to Judge Park. All of which the council has refused to do.

Taxpayers' Rights

It would seem that the taxpayers would have some rights in this matter, and if some attorney or attorneys would look the matter up there might be a remedy whereby a resident taxpayer could compel the city to perform its part of the contract and compel them to purchase the property of Mr. Sutherland to complete the park system.

The writer does not know whether or not the council has in mind the appreciation of the value of Mr. Sutherland's property, or its depreciation. In any event the building stands there as yet. It would seem to the writer that this is one of the biggest pieces of false pretense ever perpetrated on any people and if the citizens of Stevens Point comprehended their rights they would rise in their indignation at such action. If the price of the property was right when the committee recommended the prices to the council they must be right now. The city paid $8,000.00 for the old Columbia House, which did not have nearly so much ground as Mr. Sutherland's has, and which stood across the street on the opposite corner. The city has fixed the price of property down there and it would seem to the writer that the people are entitled to a square deal in this matter, when they were given to understand that the money procured from the sale of the bonds was for park purposes and that the Sutherland property was included therein.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Rural Life Club of the State Normal School Ends Period of Achievement with Outdoor Picnic

The Rural Life club of the State Normal school has closed a very successful year. This club was organized a year ago last November by Miss Rademacher. The membership is 76.

Meetings have been held every other Mondays. The programs were generally excellent. They included music, both vocal and instrumental, social and intellectual numbers, community singing, parliamentary practice. Slides secured from the University extension division Madison, were often shown and explained. At some of the meetings refreshments were served. Special programs were held in honor of Berthold Kregel, who gave his life in France, and in honor of the victorious rural department volleyball team and oratorical contestants.

During the year the club made donations of $5 to the United war work fund and $5 to the Armenian fund, sent two delegates representing the rural department to the oratorical contest held at Oshkosh, and purchased a book case for the books and pamphlets of the club, a collection of which they have already begun.

Members of the Rural Life club recently presented their play, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them." It was again successfully given at Amherst Junction.

Programs by members of the club have been furnished at a number of community meetings held in the rural schools of the county. The play was presented at the Jordan demonstration school.

The club has on hand a little over $24 in the treasury, showing that, with its other virtues, the club has been a thrift one.

On Monday night of this week the club will hold its annual picnic at Elmo Dells.

FRIENDSHIP OF BELGIUM IS STRONG FOR AMERICA

(By United Press)

Paris, June 24.—President Wilson returned to Paris today after a visit to Belgium which cemented even more closely the friendship between the little kingdom and the big republic.

In the two days he spent in Belgium President Wilson was accorded every honor within the power of King Albert and his people. The president of the chamber of deputies, in welcoming Wilson in the house of parliament yesterday, said that the keynote of Belgium's whole attitude toward America and Americans "when he said, 'Belgium will never forget the help given her by her great sister, America.'"

Addressing parliament President Wilson took occasion to emphasize the importance of the league of nations. "The league of nations is a child of this great war," he said, "for it is the expression of those permanent resolutions which grew out of the temporary necessities of this great struggle, and any nation which declares to adhere to the covenant deliberately turns away from the most telling appeal that has ever been made in its conscience and to its manhood."

The president announced it was his intention to propose to congress that the American legation in Belgium be raised to the rank of an embassy. "As a recognition, as a welcome to Belgium in her new status of complete independence."

MATTHEWSON FARM SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. John Condon of Dodge county have sold to D. E. Frost of Stevens Point what is known as the Matthewson farm in the town of Duane, Wis., or Keona. The property includes 245 acres of land and buildings. It was for a time owned and occupied by W. T. Owen, present mayor of Stevens Point. The amount of purchase money offered to the dead Mr. Condon that Mr. Frost paid $7,000 for the property and assumed a $6,000 mortgage as a part of the purchase price.

BARRIAGES ARE POPULAR

Old fashioned barrages are proving popular as features of social entertainments by Wisconsin in this year. Stevens Point, Wis., has the honor of having a 1,000 pound barrage as a feature of the "welcome home" celebration here. Marshfield was next in line. Following the idea recommended and carried out here. Now comes the announcement from Wausau that a barrage has been held as a fitting close to a Boy Scout campaign drive.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

CHURCH BUILDING
IS BEING IMPROVED

Repairs Begun at Presbyterian Edifice in Accordance with Terms of Week Bequest—New Library Lights Installed

Extensive improvements involving the expenditure of $10,000 are well under way at the Presbyterian church. A bequest of the late A. R. Week provides the sum of $5,000 for repairs to the building, and an additional $5,000 for decorating.

Improvements in the basement of the building were started two weeks ago. A new concrete floor will replace the old wooden flooring and the dining room in the basement will be enlarged to twice its original size. One of the furnaces is being moved to make room for the enlarged dining hall, and other changes and improvements are being made to the heating system.

The flight of stone steps at one of the front entrances to the church has been torn out, and will be replaced by concrete steps. A new front door will replace the old. The work of completing the repairs now under way will take several weeks, although it was originally planned to have the improvements completed by July 1. When the basement has been renovated, work of decorating the church will begin.

Library Beautified

The ornamental lights provided for in the will of Mr. Week have been installed at the Public library. Two large pedestal lights have been placed at the front entrance, one on either side of the steps, and two bracket lights at the Strong's avenue entrance. The fixtures are very attractive and greatly enhance the beauty of the building. They were installed by the Electric Sales Co.

RECRUITING-PARTY HERE TO GET MEN FOR ARMY

Lieutenant B. M. Baranow and five men of the United States army opened an office in the postoffice in Stevens Point Saturday to serve as recruiting station for the army. They will be here all of next week and their office hours will be from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Men between the ages of 18 and 25 are invited to call at the office and obtain information relative to the opportunities now offered in the military service. Choice of the various branches of service is given. Lieutenant Baranow is a veteran of 22 months' experience overseas, having served with both the 2d and 32d divisions before being wounded by German machine gun fire.

Mrs. Amanda Duncan returned to her home in Milwaukee Thursday after spending a few days in Stevens Point. During her stay here Mrs. Duncan disposed of the residence property at 319 McCulloch street, which she formerly occupied, to her nephew, Walter Johnson, an engineer on the Soo line.

DIFFERENCE IN ELKHORN
Company Furnishing Coal to the School Replies to Inquiry of Ralph Olsen

The following letter has been received in reply to an inquiry of Ralph Olsen of the Olsen Fuel company relative to the difference in Elkhorn coal which caused the board of education to accept a bid higher than Mr. Olsen's company presented.

"Gross & Jacobs Company, Stevens Point, Wisconsin. Gentlemen:—We have your favor of the 19th inst., together with newspaper clipping quoting a letter from Ralph Olsen to the editor of the paper under date of June 18th with reference to the awarding of the school business to a Stevens Point dealer on Consolidation Elkhorn coal at a price 60¢ per ton higher than a bid submitted by Mr. Olsen on other Elkhorn coal. Mr. Olsen assumes that the coal upon which he based his bid and the coal to which the business was awarded are of the same quality.

"Consolidation Elkhorn coal is mined solely by Consolidation Coal company, the pioneer in the so-called Elkhorn field of southeastern Kentucky. The Elkhorn field is comprised of many hundred thousands of acres and there is a wide variety in the inherent qualities of the coal produced and in the methods of cleaning and other preparation of the coals for the market. In fact, there is as wide a difference between the coals of the Elkhorn field as there is between the various coals shipped from the state of Illinois, so that the name 'Elkhorn' means little more as an indication of the quality of the coal than the name 'Illinois' indicates the quality of coal produced in Illinois.

"Elkhorn coal, as a rule, is mined from a seam five or six feet thick. This seam is divided by what is known as a parting, varying all the way from one to nine inches, composed of shale which disintegrates upon exposure to the air. The only way that has been found possible to eliminate the shale of this parting from the coal has been to use a special type of cutting machine which eliminates the parting from the coal prior to the removal of the coal from the seam. This method of mining is expensive and practically none of the mines other than those operated by this company use that method of production; consequently by far the majority of the coal produced in the Elkhorn field other than the coal produced by Consolidation Coal company, is shipped with a varying percentage of this shale which is a foreign substance and practically 100 per cent ash. Aside from this question of shale, the inherent qualities of the coal produced by Consolidation Coal company are admitted by experts to be of superior quality as compared with ordinary Elkhorn coal and this statement can be readily checked by reference to the Bureau of Mines at Washington.

"To be sure able to buy Elkhorn coal at prices much below the prices at which we sell Consolidation Elkhorn coal to you but, as we understand it, you are desirous of the highest quality Elkhorn coal and this you secure in Consolidation Elkhorn.

"Trusting that this explanation will answer the points you have in mind, we are

"Yours very truly,
J. B. BEARDSLEE,
"Manager."

FARMER OF GRANT
'KILLED BY HORSE

Fred Zimmerman, Well Known Man, Kicked by Animal While Doing Chores in His Barn

Fred Zimmerman, a well known farmer of the town of Grant, was kicked and fatally injured by one of his horses Wednesday evening while doing chores in his barn.

Mr. Zimmerman was alone in the barn at the time and it was not until his wife, becoming alarmed at his continued absence from the house, went to the barn that anything out of the ordinary had happened. Mr. Zimmerman was found lying on the floor, his face covered with blood. He was carried into the house and a doctor called, but he had passed beyond all human help, death being instantaneous. He had been kicked in the face, the force of the blow breaking his neck.

Mr. Zimmerman was about 55 years of age. He is survived by his wife and six children, Edith, Agnes, Emma, Leonard, Leona and Fredrick. He also leaves a brother, Robert Zimmerman of Cleveland, Ohio, and four sisters, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Mathilda Buss and Mrs. C. Dickoff of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Charles Gash of Alford.

GIRL ARRESTED HERE
RELEASED AT NEENAH

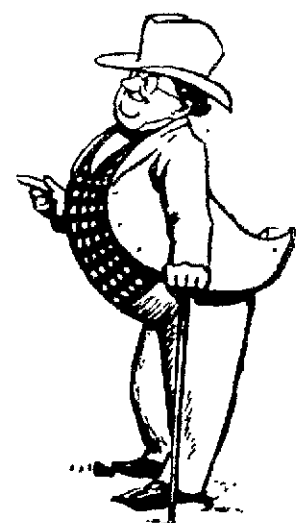

Miss Pearl Adair, who was returned from Stevens Point Wednesday, where she was detained by the police following the second disappearance of a grip from the Hotel Mack on North Commercial street, was returned to her home near Minneapolis by the local police. There was no evidence that the girl had been implicated in the second theft of the grip. The Neenah Daily News.

FIRST OF JULY CAUSE OF WORRY

Portage County Faces Prospect of Being Without Superintendent of Schools Next Month

GORDON IS HELD IN EUROPE

Superintendent-Elect Still in Military Service as Time
Draws Near

For more than one reason the proximity of July 1 is alarming to many Portage county people, for there is a probability that Portage county will be without a superintendent of schools.

Gordon Still Overseas

Lancelot Gordon, county superintendent-elect, is still overseas and can hardly return home in time to assume the duties of the office by July 1, when the term of Miss Marion Bannach, present superintendent, expires. Miss Bannach is arranging to lay down the burdens of her office at the expiration of the period for which she was appointed by State Superintendent C. P. Carey after Mr. Gordon, following his first election, was drafted for military service.

Gordon Worried Too

That all the worrying isn't being done locally is evidenced by the fact that two cablegrams pertaining to the situation were received in Stevens Point today, from Coblenz, Germany, where Mr. Gordon, who is now a second lieutenant, is with the 15th Field Artillery.

Important telegram to Bourn by my regimental commander," said Lieutenant Gordon in a wire to the Journal and Gazette.

"Lieutenant Lancelot Gordon of this regiment in good standing and making every effort to return to assume duties, county superintendent," said Colonel Davis of the 15th regiment in a message to County Clerk A. E. Bourn.

Busy Period Approaching

In the meantime the busiest season of the year for county superintendents is here, for, contrary to common belief, the months in which the schools are not in session are not a vacation period for the head of the county school system. It is during the summer that teachers are engaged for the next school year, and at this time fully three-quarters of the schools of Portage county are without teachers for the new term, according to Miss Bannach.

Situation Is Alarming

Thus, with Lieutenant Gordon 3,000 miles away and the probable time of his return uncertain, the situation is alarming to those interested in the county school system. Lieutenant Gordon, as his colonel says, has been making strenuous efforts to procure his discharge from the military service, but may be "stuck" for weeks beyond July 1 on the other side. It is understood that when he received his appointment to attend an officers' training school in France he, as did others similarly recommended, agreed to remain overseas with the regular army after hostilities were concluded if necessary.

Cary May Act

In the emergency about to be created State Superintendent Cary may devise some system for carrying on the work of the county superintendent's office during Mr. Gordon's absence, probably by making a temporary appointment.

BATHERS IN TROUBLE

Quintet of Local Young Men Appears in Court for Violation of City Ordinance

A quintet of local young men were brought into county court before Judge John A. Murat on Thursday afternoon to face the charge of bathing in the Wisconsin river in the city limits without bathing suits. Each pleaded guilty, and after a lecture by the court, sentence was suspended.

The young men arraigned were Darwin Shumway, Bert Elliot, Ernest Holman, Francis Cate and Robert Andrews. While they were bathing off one of the piers at the Week mill, complaint was made to Chief of Police John Hofsoos by phone, and he and Officer Frank Falkiewicz visited the place and took them into custody.

The young men had motored to the swimming hole and obliged the officers by giving them a ride to the court house, where their cases were at once disposed of.

DISPATCHERS WILL JOIN

"BIG FOUR" RAIL LEAGUE

The American Train Dispatchers' association is to take immediate steps to become affiliated with the "big four" of the railroad men—the Order of Railroad Conductors, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. This was decided Thursday at the convention in session at the Hotel La Salle, Chicago. The annual dance was given at the hotel at night. E. A. Schwahn of this city was in attendance at the convention.

MARSHFIELD ENTERTAINS

Marshfield entertained Wood county service men on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. A number of local people attended the celebration, which included concerts by the famous 127th Infantry band, a wrestling match, bar-becue and pavement dances.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Rain of Thursday Needed in Some Localities—Mercury Takes a Quick Drop

The heavy rainstorm of Thursday afternoon proved extremely beneficial to farmers in several townships in Portage county, where no rain had fallen for about a week. The recent hot weather had absorbed practically all of the surface moisture in spite of the earlier excessive rains.

Farmers in the vicinity of Rosholt, however, have had plenty of rain during the past week. One man who visited Stevens Point Thursday reported that it had rained there every day for the past seven days.

Farmers coming to the city from the town of Hull report considerable damage caused by hail. Rye has been so badly beaten down in some cases that it has been necessary to cut it for hay. In other townships loss has resulted to the farmers from wind damaging standing grain in the fields.

A quick drop in the temperature was recorded on Thursday preceding and during the rain. Between two and four o'clock the mercury dropped from 91 degrees to 72, a fall of 19 degrees in two hours. The rain stopped shortly after 6 o'clock and today it has been cool and clear.

GOES TO TWO RIVERS

Former Pastor of Polonia Church is Complimented for His Work in Antigo Parish

The following from the Antigo Daily Journal will be of interest to Stevens Point and Portage county friends of Rev. T. Malkowski, former pastor of Sacred Heart church at Polonia.

"Father T. Malkowski, who has for nearly three years been in charge of the parish of St. Hyacinth's church, has been informed by the bishop that on June 21 he is to take charge of the Polish church at Two Rivers. He will leave here shortly before to prepare for his first service in the Two Rivers church on Sunday, June 22. His successor here has not yet been designated.

"In the departure of Father Malkowski from Antigo, this city loses one of its most active christian workers, and a priest of strong influence among his parishioners. Although his interest in public affairs had been noticed for some time, it was in war work particularly that attention was called to his efforts. In every public demonstration his church and school took a part. In the sale of Liberty bonds, Red Cross work, and other war activities, particularly Polish relief, he was most active. In the latter campaign he collected some $1,000 and did the work practically all himself, while he himself was always a liberal contributor to every good cause. His many friends here, both in his church and in the community, will be pained to learn of his departure."

Five-year-old Son of Mr. and Mrs.
Peter Urbanowski Upsets Coffee
Pot on Stove

Raymond Urbanowski, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Urbanowski, 303 North Third street, was severely burned by hot coffee about the back and shoulders on Wednesday morning. His mother had stepped outside the home after a pail of water, and when the little boy was alone in the kitchen he accidentally upset a pot of boiling coffee which was standing on the stove. He was given medical attention and was reported getting along nicely later in the day.

CONVENE AT MOSINEE

Summer Session of Central Wisconsin Press Association on July 25

The Central Wisconsin Press association, comprising newspaper publishers in Portage and seven other counties, will hold the sixth annual summer outing and business session at Mosinee on Friday, July 25.

Officers of the association are now at work outlining the program for the occasion, which will be announced within a few weeks. The summer gathering is more in the nature of a social outing, although a business session will be held. An effort is being made to secure a publisher of national reputation for an address at the evening meeting.

J. H. Yost, chairman of the Mosinee Chamber of Commerce, has named a committee of arrangements to look after the entertainment of the publishers while they are in Mosinee.

WOUNDED SOLDIER RELEASED

Henry Kaniecki, 107 Mason street, has returned from Camp Grant after receiving his discharge from the service. He was wounded twice in France. He received a flesh wound in one of the early fights in the campaign last year, and finally, while fighting in the Argonne forest, his shoulder blade was shot away. A silver plate has been put in and the young man has the partial use of his arm, though he will never again have full use of it.

PUBLIC OPINION

Improve Rural Schools
To the Editor:—To be present at the county commencement last Saturday afternoon would bring to mind the saying "the door to all reforms is the child and the key is education." In the reconstruction period that we are entering the country will look to the public school system as its greatest asset and ally in the work that must be accomplished through the school house. We must have many improvements in our schools, and the pity and tragedy of the situation is that in many cases the men who have authority in school matters have but one object, viz, to keep them as they were fifty years ago. The little one-room district school has served its day.

We need rural consolidation. We need better equipment. We need and we have with consolidation better teaching and better supervision. We need a County Nurse. In that class of 250 rural graduates there were only nineteen who were not absent during the year on account of sickness. The children the most precious asset in this prosperous country. But we are without a nurse to detect, prevent and instruct the rural children in order that they may have good physical health.

If the live stock of the county were herded together in District pastures for the greater part of the year the county fathers would want their stock safeguarded. There would be an expert to look after the condition of the pastures and that no contagious disease or epidemic obtained a foothold. It is very little to ask that we have just one nurse for this county to look after the hundreds of children who are suffering in many instances from preventable diseases. From a patriotic standpoint we should do everything for the children of America.

Consider the noble response they gave to the call for volunteers. We should go over the top in times of peace as well as in times of war to do everything for the youth of this country by giving them an education built upon a splendid physical foundation. The County Board that takes the first step in procuring a County Nurse will have reason for evermore to point to their action with pride. Likewise the districts that unite schools for consolidation will be proud of their history in the work of the county.

Let us do what we can for our country by doing the very utmost that can be done for our school children. The school is one of the very big factors in the very base and foundation of all that is good and strong in American life. Let our lasting monument to the brave boys who gave their lives, be a dedication to the young manhood of a womanhood of this county, a dedication of our lives to the upbuilding and proper maintaining of our American Schools.

A CITIZEN.

NO CAUSE FOR ACTION

After hearing the evidence in the case of the state vs. Bernard Okray and John Nohrman, Judge Marchetti decided no offense had been proven, dismissed the case and discharged the defendants. The defendants were charged with larceny of machinery, etc., from the planing mill of the Johnson Creek Lumber company, located in the town of Knowlton—Wausau Record-Herald.

FEARS VATICAN'S POWER IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(By United Press)
Washington, June 20.—Fear that the vatican will be restored to temporal domination over the world by organization of the league of nations was expressed today by Senator Sherman of Illinois in a speech to the senate. Sherman, pointing out that 24 of the 40 nations which will be members of the league adhere to the Roman Catholic church, said the vatican will be able to control their vote in the league on political and economic questions.

Offers Scholarships

Through the recent action of the legislature in adopting a law making it mandatory for every county in the state to employ a registered public health nurse or trained health instructor and through its existing resources for training workers to fill these and similar positions, Wisconsin is taking a unique position of leadership in the national movement for better health resources and especially in the campaign for better health protection of rural communities.

Wisconsin is one of the comparatively few states in the union in which a training course for public health nurses is conducted. Its four months' course, given twice yearly under the direction of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, is one of 14 courses in the United States recognized by the American Red Cross in its awarding of public health nursing scholarships. The association also conducts a special six weeks' summer course for nurses who have already had some public health experience. This course beginning July 7.

It is the first state to pass a law making it compulsory for every county in the state to employ either a public health nurse or a health instructor. The fact that this law is an expression of public sentiment is evidenced by the large number of counties which have voluntarily provided for this service, such provision having been made in 23 of the 71 counties with campaigns under way in several other counties. It is predicted that the county which delays action until compelled by the law will be the rare exception.

To Wisconsin and its state anti-tuberculosis association also goes the credit of originating the first course for the training of health instructors, a 10 months' course based on teaching instead of on nursing technique as a preliminary requirement. The state's first class of health instructors graduates this June and a new class begins training in September.

Offering of scholarships by the American Red Cross, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, and other organizations, the fact that a training course is available within the state, and the increasing number of public health positions which are unfilled owing to the rapid growth of the work and the scarcity of trained workers are expected to attract a large number of Wisconsin young women to the field of public health work within the next few years. Of the 23 counties which have made provision for employing a public health worker 11 are still looking for a worker. Some of the nurses who have taken public health positions both rural and city, are planning to take the short special course of training this summer.

The Red Cross has set aside a scholarship fund of $100,000. The scholarship allowed in a four months' course being $300.

The Outlook for a Prohibition Country

The country will go dry on July 1 unless one of two things happens. The president has the authority to declare the demobilization of the army completed, and if he does that, there will be a wet period until January 16, when constitutional prohibition goes into effect. The other possibility is that Elihu Root, one of the greatest lawyers in America, may persuade the federal courts that 2 1/2 per cent beer is not an intoxicating drink and thus preserve the unlicensed beer saloon while the whisky saloon goes.

The first possibility is small. Mr. Wilson recommended to congress that it repeal the July 1 dry law so far as it relates to beer and light wines. Congress refused to act. The senate majority was 5 to 1 against it. There is no chance of congress acting favorably before the first of next month on the president's recommendation. It has been suggested that the president might now declare demobilization ended and thus keep the saloon for whisky as well as beer, until January 16. But demobilization is not complete, and the president, even though friendly to beer-drinking, cannot proclaim what is obviously not true.

Hope of the liquor men thus remains in the courts. Preliminary decisions of the federal court in New York, after the arguments of Mr. Root, have been to the effect that beer under three per cent is not intoxicating. They may hold that in the final decision; the supreme court may hold it. But the prevailing opinion even as to the courts is the other way.

The present outlook would seem to be that legalized sale of whisky is to end on July 1, and that while beer may hold on for a time, it will have to go too. At this time public sentiment is in doubt. The rural districts are for prohibition, the cities for beer. There has been a reaction against the prohibition legislation. The arbitrary conduct of the Anti-Saloon league has caused irritation. But that is only transient. It will soon be forgotten, while the record of liquor throughout the ages and the demand of business and industry for men of clear heads argues strongly for the ultimate abolition of all drinks which slow the hand and cloud the brain. We believe it is the wise brewer who recognizes that, even if there is a reaction which may save beer for a time, it cannot be saved permanently, and who puts his plant on a basis to take care of the trade in drinks with no alcohol at all.

Bicycles on the Sidewalks

A notice issued by Chief of Police Hofsoos a few days ago, calling attention to the ordinance regulating the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks, was called forth by an incident on Church street. Mrs. C. B. Baker, while on the walk in front of her home, was run down by two boys on a bicycle and thrown heavily to the ground. The street is paved and the riding of wheels upon the sidewalk is forbidden. Mrs. Baker would like to know where a pedestrian is safe. Between dodging automobiles in the street and bicycles on the walks, it looks as though the only security would be found in traveling through the air.

The city ordinance is plain. The city says it will be enforced. Mrs. Baker complains that there are numerous cases of riding on the walks in front of her home and that she has had other narrow escapes from injury. Perhaps other residents have had the same experience. The way to stop it is to institute a few prosecutions. While it is not practicable to send children to jail, their parents are responsible for them and can be arrested and fined. Unless the riding on walks along paved streets stops, that will be done.

While on the bicycle subject, it is well to call attention to the too common practice of driving wheels at night without lights. It is not done down town—the police will see it there—but it is done often in the residence districts. On the Plover road out of the city wheels without lights can be met every night of the summer. For their own safety, riders of bicycles should put on lights. Drivers of cars cannot always see them unless they have lamps which give warning before they close upon them.

Germany Ratifies the Peace Treaty

The national assembly in Germany, by a majority of 100, has ratified the treaty with the Allied powers. The national assembly is the nearest thing to representative government that Germany has. Doubtless it more nearly stands for the people of Germany than did the old imperial government, which traced its authority to a grant from heaven.

The ratification is far from being unanimous. One hundred thirty-eight votes were cast against it. The vote discloses that there is a large party in Germany which was willing to take a chance of re-opening the war for it was well understood that in case of failure of ratification Foch's armies would resume the march into Germany. That dissatisfied element promises trouble in the future. But if Germany, united, animated by a great zeal and prepared for 40 years, could not overthrow her neighbors, it is unlikely that a disgruntled minority in Germany can persuade the German people, after the lesson they have had, again to undertake the same experiment.

Future peace probably depends on the firm purpose of the Allies, mixed with a wise leniency. Germany should suffer enough to teach her not to blunder again; she should not be pushed so far as to drive her to despair. The statesmanship of the great nations will find the preservation of peace, and the development of better relations, one worthy of their best abilities.

And so for the present at least we are to have peace.

Good Roads and the Housing Problem

Improved highways of a permanent type providing motor express and passenger transportation facilities spell opportunity today to the city which intends to lay the foundation for a healthy, permanent future growth.

For, if we admit that hope lies in a more even distribution of the population over the acres lying within a city's sphere of influence then we are committed to the task of arranging facilities to permit that adjustment to take place in a natural way.

Improved highways that make possible rapid motor transportation 365 days out of every year will just as certainly permit and stimulate our people to move out on to the surrounding country as a fast and free flowing stream will deliver at its mouth the piece of bark flung in at its source.

These remarks, made by W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, at a recent conference, are vital now, first because in many cities housing conditions are not conducive to a home-making and home-loving folk, and second now is the time to set about on those works of public improvement that will permit men and women to become home owners.

In Stevens Point there are not enough houses to take care of the people. Some houses are being built, but not fast enough to provide for the growth in population. Development of the outskirts of town and the country districts a little way out would help to solve the problem of giving a people a place to stay. In order that that be done, we must have good streets and roads. It is nothing to go to work a mile, two, or three or five miles if the roads are right. With poor roads it is out of the question. We are building some highways in this county, but the movement is too slow. In the city we are doing practically nothing. With the season almost half over almost nothing has been done to improve the highways in Stevens Point except on one strip of a half mile. It is a popular impression that in a few years there will be good roads everywhere. A leading citizen of this city remarked to the Journal a few days ago that in 10 years all the roads would be good. Not at the present rate of progress. Not by any means. The roads of Portage county and Stevens Point went back more during the winter than they have been improved this summer. We are really worse off than we were a year ago.

The farmers of Portage county, and the residents of the city of Stevens Point, who are compelled to use the roads and streets, need good highways if they are to do business comfortably and cheaply. And the housing problem is largely dependent on the same thing.

When a Hero is Made

In the ordinary hours of any life come the call for quick action, the unhesitating answer makes the hero. So it came to Frank Pawaloski of Stevens Point when he threw himself into the mouth of an open sewer through which a torrent poured and saved a baby boy of three from being carried down to death. One moment came the need: quick thought, quick action, and the child was saved. Quick thought, quick action—and the hero heart, the readiness to risk himself: yes, more than the readiness, the inability to remember himself when a child might be saved. Wars do not make heroes. War discovers the hero in a man, gives him his opportunity, discloses to the world the stuff he is made of. War is full of opportunity, but heroism does not end with the command "Cease firing." No year passes without its measure of golden deeds, recorded or forgotten, going to swell the glory of our race. Whenever opportunity finds a manly heart, which feels the need for action and does not count the cost, then is a hero made. And all of us are his debtors, for our lives are cleaner and richer through the knowledge that in our world abides always the capacity for noble deeds.—Milwaukee Journal.

Help Wanted Advertising

The Journal has published several advertisements of "help wanted" in other towns. A number of newspapers are refusing such advertising on the theory that the town needs its own men. It is true that each town does need its own men. We need ours in Stevens Point and it is hoped that every workman here will consider what he is doing very carefully before he takes a place elsewhere. He should take into account the cost of living, the length of the employment and the health and moral atmosphere of the place to which he is going. Then, if he wishes to go, it is his privilege. And it does not appeal to the Journal as fair to refuse workmen knowledge of opportunities. It is believed they have a right to know of them and in that spirit the Journal accepts help wanted advertising.

General Pershing is discouraging the marriage of American soldiers to French girls. "Since the armistice the American boys have had little to do and they are likely to marry without thinking of the seriousness of the step," says the general. He is of the opinion that propinquity and restlessness have more to do with most of these international unions than affection has, and he is probably right. The French girls happen to be on the spot at the right time. There is little special and personal in the compliment the lonesome doughboy pays one of them in asking for her hand.

In most cities the mourners for John Barleycorn are preparing to give him a memorable wake on the night of June 30. The chief of police at Chicago says there will be no wake in his town, that the saloons will close promptly on the first stroke of July 1, but those who know Chicago have no doubt the chief has his fingers crossed when he talks like that.

Not that very many would care to read it through, but you can't blame the senate of the United States for wanting to have a peep at the peace treaty. When President Wilson had grandly proclaimed himself in favor of "open covenants openly arrived at," the senators took the president at his word.

Stevens Point saloon men are going down with colors flying. Almost every one of them has asked for a license. "Don't give up the bar" is the slogan with which they make their last stand.

Having spent six months in France, President Wilson is being nominated by the newspapers for a service stripe.

HAS SOMETHING OF A JOB

Bill is Finding That Thinking Up an Explanation is by No Means an Easy Task.

Bill Dudley and eleven other pinch players who are members of a progressive pinch club left their South side homes to go to Beech Grove the other night. While at Fountain square waiting for the Beech Grove car Bill and Joe Beck got too far away from the car to catch it and the other ten went to Beech Grove. Then Bill got an idea and he and Beck stole home to where Bill's car rested—for his wife won't let him take it out after dark. They opened the garage door noiselessly, pushed the car out and down the street for a block and then stepped on the starter. They got to Beech Grove before the rest of the club did.

Bill and his friend Beck drove home after the club meeting and repeated the performance in getting the car back in the garage. Then he went into the house. Presently the crowd came along and yelled at Bill through the window. Of course, that entailed explanations on Bill's part to his wife as to how he got home first. The other members of the club say Bill has not yet been able to explain to his wife how he beat them home.—Indianapolis News.

Not Worth a Rooster.

Having lived next door to the home of a minister, I was often called in to witness a hasty wedding.

On one occasion the prospective bride and bridegroom arrived in a farm wagon. After the ceremony was duly performed the bridegroom asked to be excused just a moment, and on returning from his wagon he said: "Parson, I have no money to give you, but here is a nice young rooster for your Thanksgiving dinner, and I will bring you a turkey for Christmas."

On several occasions the minister saw the same man in town, who seemed to avoid him. One day on meeting him face to face he said: "Parson, I may as well tell you that I am not going to bring that turkey; I have found out she was not even worth the rooster I gave you."—Chicago Tribune.

Return of the Ox.

The ox as a beast of burden is coming into its own again in the farming communities of Maine and the oxen and apparatus used by blacksmiths in shoeing the animals, long ago thrown into the discard, is in use again. The ox consists of a rude frame of timber into which the animal is fastened by a pillow. Straps are then drawn under the body, the ends being made fast to upper timbers of the frame. In blacksmith shops 20 years ago the slings were common. Oxen are less expensive to feed than horses and are equally as useful on small farms and the rising value of feed is having much to do with the comeback of the ox as a work animal.

Mending Knives and Forks.

To mend a knife or steel fork which has come out of the handle, fill the hole with finely powdered resin and hold the rough end of the knife or fork in the fire until it becomes hot. Insert it in the powdered resin and hold it straight until firmly fixed.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS of INTEREST

The Grand Rapids Leader of recent issue contains mention of the marriage of Miss Nelle Palmatier of that city to Julian Y. Malone of Jacksonville, Ill. The bride is well known in Stevens Point, the family having formerly lived here.

"One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the Congregational church this morning at 10 o'clock when Miss Nelle Palmatier of this city and Mr. Julian Y. Malone of Jacksonville, Ill., were united in marriage. Rev. Noel J. Breed officiating. They were attended by their mothers, Mrs. C. Malone and Mrs. Minnie Palmatier, respectively, and Miss Alma Krieger of Madison as maid of honor and Mr. Frank Walsh of this city as best man. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of white georgette crepe and carried a shower bouquet of opelia roses, the maid of honor wore a gown of blue and gold georgette and carried a shower bouquet of soap dragons; the mothers carried bouquets of mignonette and marguerites. Mrs. Malone wore a gown of lavender silk and Mrs. Palmatier a black and white georgette crepe dress. The wedding march was played by Miss Elizabeth Schreiff of Menomonie, Wis., and during the ceremony she played the "Spring Song."

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to 24 relatives and friends at the home of the bride's mother at 458 Second Ave. North. The bride needs no introduction to the people of this city as she is well known here and has made this city her home for a number of years; for the past three years she has been supervisor of music in the school at Menomonie, Wis., and has many friends here who extend congratulations. The bridegroom has also made many friends here while he has been in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Malone left for Madison on a wedding trip after which they will make their future home in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Nellie A. Challoved, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Challoved of West Hancock, and Clark Casey of Almond were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at noon on Wednesday, June 18. Rev. Mr. Cook performed the ceremony.

The home was prettily decorated for the occasion. The bride wore a gown of silk georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Mrs. Bert Marshall, sister of the young lady, was bridesmaid and her husband was groomsmen. Only immediate relatives of the two families were present.

The young couple are spending a number of days in Milwaukee, Fond du Lac and other cities, and will be at home in Almond after July 1.

The last dancing party of a successful series of five was given by the Married Folks' Dancing Friday evening. There were about 40 couples present, including members and invited guests, each couple belonging to the club having been given the privilege of inviting one other married couple for the concluding party. Weber's eight-piece orchestra played the dance program, which continued from 9 to 12 o'clock. Lunch was served at midnight.

Miss Doris Reinhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reinhardt, 907 Minnesota avenue, and Carl Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Peterson, 614 Michigan avenue, were married at the home of the groom's parents at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Rev. E. H. Bertermann performed the ceremony and the double ring service was used.

A wedding dinner was served at the Peterson home to 45 relatives and friends of the couple on Wednesday evening. The rooms of the home were prettily decorated for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson left early this morning for Minneapolis and expect to return to Stevens Point Saturday morning. In company with his parents, they will leave Saturday for Bloomer to spend the week-end, making the trip by auto. Bloomer is the former home of the groom's mother.

The bride has been employed until recently in the Hannon-Bach pharmacy, resigning two weeks ago. The groom is employed as machinist helper on the Soo line here. They will reside at 501 Dixon street.

A pretty wedding of interest to many residents of Stevens Point took place at Milladore Tuesday, June 17, when Miss Agnes Falt and Albert Swetz, were united in marriage.

The bride was attired in a gown of white messaline. She also wore a veil and wreath. The double ring service was used.

Miss Rose Falt, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid and wore a pale green dress of Jap silk. John Swetz, a brother of the groom, was groomsmen. Miss Sophia Swetz, sister of the groom and Ed. Falt brother of the bride, also attended.

A wedding dinner was served at 2 o'clock to a large number of guests. The dining room was very prettily decorated with flowers and red, white and blue crepe paper.

The young couple will make their home with his folks for the present. The Misses Florence Cook and Bertha Carston of this city attended the wedding.

An interesting piano recital was given by the junior pupils of Mrs. James Blake at her home on Friday evening. Those participating were Donald Vetter, Karl Lord, Maxine Neseman, Ethel Paukert, Lenora Vaughan, Madge Foote, Sibel Alban, Dorothy Viertel, Doris Martin, Adelaide Sparks, Dorothy Carley and Georgia Stickney.

Mrs. V. A. Mason and daughter Victoria were guests from Marshfield.

Announcements have been received in the city for the fiftieth commencement exercises at Riverside High school, which are to take place at Folsom Place, Milwaukee, on the evening of June 26. A Stevens Point young lady is named among the graduates. She is Miss Grace M. Finch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Finch of this city, and completes a course in science.

Transportation of the Future.

Transportation is the fundamental of progress in civilization. All things must pass through it as through the neck of a bottle. If we can transport energy without using cars to carry it, there is just so much gain. Electricity is energy without substance. Its transmission calls for no vehicle other than a copper wire. Hence is it obvious that we must look to electricity for distributing the power on which our economic future as a nation depends.

By-Products.

By-products are substances or results obtained collaterally or incidentally in the operation of a specific process or manufacture of something else. In hunting game for food the hides and fenders are by-products; in manufacturing lumber sawdust and shavings are by-products; in the manufacture of gas, coke is a by-product, though not the only one evolved in the process.

ADMIRAL MAYO UNDER FIRE DURING BRITISH NAVAL ATTACK ON OSTEND

Commander of Atlantic Fleet Watched Shelling of Terror From Bridge of Broke—Admiral Made Many Trips to Europe During the War—Played an Important Part in Direction of Naval Part of War.

New York.—When Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, went to Europe, as he did several times during the course of the war, he was known to all on board, with the exception of the commanding officer of the ship, as Mr. Wing. When Admiral Sims went over immediately following the declaration of war in April, 1917, he was booked as "Mr. Richardson," while Captain Babcock, who was Admiral Sims' aid, was Mr. Robertson.

It is probable that no officer in any of the allied navies played a more important part in the direction of the naval part of the war, after April, 1917, than did Admiral Mayo, the commander of the Atlantic fleet. It is also certain that no prominent officer appeared fewer times in the public print than did Admiral Mayo. The other day an officer of the fleet, who was close to Admiral Mayo during the war, and who knows the story of the admiral's war activities, told it for the first time.

"I guess it's all right," said this officer, "now that the ships of the navy are home and admirals' flags are waving peacefully and calmly in the security of yards and docks, stories of experiences abroad are coming in with the drift of conversation in the wardroom and in the quarter deck. It is all over now, official reports have been made, the censor's tightening grip has been loosened on his rubber stamp, and even men bound down by the iron rules of 'Operations' are known to spin a yarn."

"In all of the sea travel that came to ranking officers of the United States navy none has attained the ocean crossings accomplished by Admiral Henry T. Mayo during the war. If the log of the writer is correct all of these voyages except two were made in the winter. His first trip across was in 1917 and was made under the most secretive of movements. Again he went over with his entire staff, and returning on the Mauretania early last December was taken off this ship on a tender in Gravesend bay, hurried to his flagship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, in the New York navy yard, the following day sailing as the escort to President Wilson on his first trip abroad.

Arriving at Brest he turned right around again and brought the fleet home. Then he went to Cuba, and returning visited New York for the usual April recreation period of the fleet.

Inspects the Navies.

"It was while on his second trip abroad that Admiral Mayo made probably the most extensive tour of inspection made by any commanding officer during the war. With members of his staff he visited not only the American and English navies, but also every branch of the allied forces in Europe. It was on this trip that he was entertained by both the English and Italian kings.

"It was this continued voyaging of the admiral which caused some one to remark at the Army and Navy club in Washington that of all the officers in the navy, Admiral Mayo was continually on the wing.

"And most appropriately," replied a civilian traveler on an ocean liner some months past, "for I once knew him as 'Mr. Wing.'"

Which lets the secret out, for when in 1917 Admiral Mayo and his staff sailed most quietly and secretly on the St. Louis he was known as Mr. Wing. He wore the dress of a civilian, as did all of the members of his staff. Only the ship's commanding officer knew of his presence—save one, a naval officer in charge of a gun crew, who saluted him. Whether or not the salute was returned with a wink or a frown is not known.

"Admiral Mayo and staff went over in July, 1917. All were in civilian attire, and their departure was a secret to every one but the highest authorities at Washington. After stopping in London, Admiral Mayo and his party went on the continent. It was during this trip that his chief of staff, Capt. O. P. Jackson, was so badly injured in an automobile accident that he had to be left behind at a hospital at Amiens.

Joined by Jellicoe.

"On this trip with which this narrative is concerned the admiral was accompanied by Capt. Ernest J. King, U. S. N., who was then his assistant chief of staff, and commander Leigh Noyes, U. S. N., his flag secretary. Captain King is now at the War college, having left the fleet during its visit to New York. The party went first to Boulogne, and while there the party was treated to an air raid. Thence to Dunkirk, where they found the place had been raided the night before, and very successfully, for the first bombs destroyed the pumps and fire apparatus, and the second lot set fire to the storehouse, which, with no water and no equipment to extinguish, was destroyed. In this party were Admirals Jellicoe, Bacon and Oliver. Joining Admiral Mayo, they took automobiles and went out to inspect the troops. While on this errand a German plane came overhead to make photographs of the work the bombing party had done the night before. No bombs were dropped by this unexpected visitor, but the troops along the road opened up a lively machine gun fire, all of which went over the heads of the distinguished inspection party and again brought them in the line of fire.

"At this time the British navy was operating against the land guns at Ostend. Part of its attack was made from the Terror, a monitor of the old-fashioned type, somewhat similar to our Amphitrite, which was anchored about fourteen miles from the shore batteries of the Germans.

"Admiral Mayo, accompanying three English high officers, boarded the British destroyer Broke. It will be recalled that the Broke, Captain Evans commanding, at this time had a remarkable record of engagements with the U-boats. Encountering at one time six of the enemy submarines, she accounted for herself so skillfully and courageously that her log shows that at a rate of about two minutes apart she sank three of them. Had it not been for a shot temporarily disabling her engines, she would, from past performances, have continued to have made way with the remaining trio. As it was, she escaped after bagging three and writing a glorious page in her log.

"The Broke proceeded to where the Terror was anchored. An air patrol came out. Destroyers kept moving up and down before the monitor, throwing a smoke screen about her. The Broke, which at this time was flying Admiral Mayo's flag, joined the party. The admiral was on the bridge with Admiral Jellicoe and the destroyer's skipper. On the forecabin were Commander Noyes and Commander Babcock of Admiral Sims' staff.

Watches From Bridge.

"The German batteries opened fire at a 14-mile range, began a lively shelling of the Terror, throwing splashes close to the Broke and the other destroyers which kept moving up the line. Throughout the firing Admiral Mayo remained on the bridge, making a close observation of the enemy's work. The attack finally ceased without any direct hits being made by the Germans.

"Feeling a little more at ease, the party returned, and taking British destroyers went across the channel to Dover. The excitement all over, but still with the thrill of having been in the midst of the very lively engagement, Admiral Mayo and the party boarded the train for London. They had hardly got a fair start when the alarm for an air raid was sounded. Raiding parties coming from German territory were known not to waste any time on Dover and having flown over the land followed the railroad tracks to London.

"All lights were extinguished, everything was down to a whisper, and the party was again under the guns of the enemy. Then came 'all clear,' and the American visitors continued their journey to London with the real experience of having been under fire.

"Admiral Mayo has never mentioned his experience of having been directly under the enemy's guns when they were directed from land to forces at sea, but his own war diary no doubt carries a rather vivid series of reminiscences with some observations and perhaps some recommendations that would be interesting to read."

FOE ARSENAL LOSES MILLIONS

Mismanagement Alleged and is Also Blamed for Insubordination Among Workers.

Berlin.—The state arsenal at Spandau, which has been shut down by the government, has shown monthly deficits of $3,750,000 for the last few months. Estimates for April, May and June indicated a further total operating loss of $15,000,000. Attempts to utilize the gigantic plant for peace production are unsuccessful in its present condition and it will have to be dismantled and re-equipped.

The arsenal, which in peace time employed 9,000 hands and in the last few years engaged 40,000 workers, since the revolution has developed into a hotbed of radicalism. Communist leaders openly engaged in the intimidation of other workers, threatening them with boycott and other forms of terrorism.

It is stated also that the plant has been grossly mismanaged, which gradually brought on a state of passive resistance and insubordination among the workers.

Put Snake in Frying Pan.

Flint, Mich.—When she entered the kitchen of her home after a brief absence, Mrs. Ernst Richardson told the police, she found the place looking as if the German army had paid a visit. Everything breakable in the kitchen, including all her dishes, had been smashed on the floor and food, uncooked and leftovers, was emptied into the stove. As a finishing touch the marauders had placed a two-foot snake, evidently freshly killed for the purpose, coiled up in the frying pan on the stove with the head hanging over the edge.

TOWN FOR COLORED FOLK

Truxton, Va., Built by Government to House Employees of Naval Base.

Portsmouth, Va.—A model town, constructed by the government exclusively for colored people, was formally opened with ceremonies, and Truxton, Va., as the new town is known, took its place on the map as a suburb of Portsmouth.

Built primarily for war purposes to house employees at the great Hampton roads naval base, the 224 buildings in the little town will not be sold immediately by the government, but will be rented at from $16 to $19 a month. The town is one of the 24 housing projects the United States Housing corporation is rapidly completing in various parts of the country for the government. Final disposition of the property rests with congress.

Officials of the United States Housing corporation, officers from the naval base and Virginia state officials attended the opening ceremonies. L. K. Sherman, president of the housing corporation and a representative of the department of labor, made an address.

Army Air Service Completing Maps of Three Cross-Country Trunk Routes.

Washington.—The army air service has made substantial progress in the work of preparing national aerial routes, the map already showing a number of travel lanes in 30 states. The entire country will be covered as soon as adequate data has been compiled.

Information entered on the master map here covers every detail necessary for the successful operation of an airplane over the territory shown. Distances, fields, suitable landing stations, places where vital supplies and parts may be obtained, as well as condition of terrain, all are noted.

It is proposed to chart three trunk routes from coast to coast, with about twenty-four feeding or distributing routes, which, it is stated, "would bring every city and town in the United States within six hours flying time of the distributing points." Completion of the national map is expected before the close of the year.

German Rings Cost Boy $5,000 Suit for Injuries.

Kansas City, Mo.—Did Fate follow John Scardella, sixteen-year-old Italian boy, when a German iron ring was working caught in a box mangle machine at the Inman box factory here?

After Judge Southern of the circuit court had ordered the jury to find for the defendant, it was discovered the ring belonged to Scardella and which caused him to lose one finger, bore this inscription:

"To show my honor and loyalty to the fatherland in this hour of distress, I give my gold for this iron."

The boy had sued for $5,000. The evidence showed he was careless, and the jury was instructed to find for the defendant.

Grist Mill Stops.

Huntington, L. I.—A grist mill on the west side of Huntington Harbor ceased operations for the first time in 167 years. D. Webster Smith, the proprietor, said so little grain is being raised in the vicinity that the business no longer pays. The mill was erected in 1752.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Blow your trumpets, daffodils: Someone's tripping o'er the hills. Flowers awaken, birds all sing. Welcome to the gladsome spring.

GOOD EATINGS.

The old-fashioned dishes may be supplanted for a time by up-to-date and fancy dishes, but the old things still hold place and we go back to them with renewed pleasure.

Graham Pudding.—To one and one-half cups of graham flour, add one cup of sweet milk, one cup of molasses, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of melted butter, one egg and one-half cup of stoned and chopped raisins. Mix and steam three hours. Serve with a hot egg sauce or any favorite sauce.

Creole Soup.—Chop one small turnip, one onion and one carrot. Cook these with two tablespoonfuls of rice, a pint of tomato, two teaspoonfuls of salt and two cups of water. When the vegetables are tender, rub through a colander. Add a tablespoonful of butter or sweet drippings and serve hot.

Prune Fluff.—Wash two cups of prunes and cover with cold water; let stand overnight, drain and to the water (two-thirds of a cupful) add one-half cupful of corn meal; cook, stirring constantly until the water is absorbed, add a half teaspoonful of salt, then a cupful of milk and cook one hour in a double boiler. Remove the pits from the prunes, put through a colander, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and an egg white beaten stiff. Serve the mush with the prune fluff, with cream and sugar.

Indian Pudding.—Heat three cups of milk to scalding, then stir in one-half cupful of corn meal that has been mixed with one cupful of cold milk; add one-half a teaspoonful of salt, the same of cinnamon, one-fourth cupful of brown sugar, one beaten egg and bake in a moderate oven. Suet may be added to this pudding as well as raisins, making a much richer dish.

Baked Beans With Sausages.—Parboil one quart of navy beans after soaking them overnight. When the skins crack place them in the bean pot, adding three tablespoonfuls of molasses, and salt to taste. Bake all day. One hour before serving place link sausages over the top and let them cook uncovered.

Nellie Maxwell

Unexpected Information.

A clergyman lost his horse on a Saturday evening. After hunting with a boy until after midnight he gave up in despair. The next day, somewhat dejected at his loss, he went into the pulpit and took for his text the following passage from Job: "Oh, that I knew where I might find him." The boy, supposing the horse was still the burden of thought, cried out: "I know where he is. He's in Deacon Smith's barn!"

Tablet to Horace Greeley.

The Vermont Press association placed a memorial tablet on the old building at East Point where a ragged fourteen-year-old boy, in 1825, began a painful apprenticeship as a printer, in which he obtained a working knowledge of the most dynamic of all the arts. The ragged boy was Horace Greeley, and the building was the office of the Northern Spectator—a country weekly newspaper.
